

|                                |                                                                                                                                                                   |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ID                      | Test case 1                                                                                                                                                |
| Name                           | Using the Help/About Window                                                                                                                                       |
| Author                         | QA                                                                                                                                                                |
| Brief description(purpose) | Checking the Help function. Contents of the About window.                                                                                                         |
| Initial conditions             | BugPad is runningA non-empty .TXT file has been opened.                                                                                                       |
| Step-by-stepinstructions   | 1. Click the question mark button on the Tool Bar.2. Check the text in the About BugPad window that appears.3. Click OK.                                  |
| Passing Criterion              | After step 1, the About BugPad window appears.Text: BugPad v1.0. Multi-bugged Notepad SampleSiber Systems 2004. OK button. Clicking OK closes the window. |
| Notes:                         | Take the test again: press Enter in step 3.                                                                                                                       |

|                                |                                                                                          |
|--------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ID                      | Test case 2                                                                       |
| Name                           | Tool Bar / Cancel Print                                                                  |
| Author                         | QA                                                                                       |
| Brief description(purpose) | Checking the Tool Bar/Print button                                                       |
| Initial conditions             | BugPad is runningA non-empty .TXT file has been opened.                              |
| Step-by-stepinstructions   | 1. Click the Print button on the Toolbar2. Click the Cancel button on the Print form |
| Passing Criterion              | The Print window closes. The program is in its initial state.                            |

|                                |                                                                                                              |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ID                      | Test case 3                                                                                           |
| Name                           | Tool Bar / Font                                                                                              |
| Author                         | QA                                                                                                           |
| Brief description(purpose) | Checking the Tool Bar/Set Font button                                                                        |
| Initial conditions             | BugPad is runningA non-empty .TXT file has been opened.                                                  |
| Step-by-stepinstructions   | 1. Select the text2. Select the Change Font button in the Toolbar3. Select one of the existing fonts |
| Passing Criterion              | The font changes to the selected one.                                                                        |

|                                |                                                                         |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ID                      | Test case 4                                                      |
| Name                           | Check page setup/size                                                   |
| Author                         | QA                                                                      |
| Brief description(purpose) | Testing the paper size selection function                               |
| Initial conditions             | BugPad is runningA non-empty .TXT file has been opened.             |
| Step-by-stepinstructions   | 1. Go to the File menu2. Select Page Setup3. Select the A5 size |
| Passing Criterion              | The text scale should change                                            |

|                                |                                                                                                                              |
|--------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| ID                      | Test case 5                                                                                                           |
| Name                           | Open a non-text file                                                                                                         |
| Author                         | QA                                                                                                                           |
| Brief description(purpose) | Checking the processing of an attempt to open a non-text file                                                                |
| Initial conditions             | BugPad is running                                                                                                            |
| Step-by-stepinstructions   | 1. Select the Open button on the Toolbar2. Select a non-text file                                                        |
| Passing Criterion              | The message "Attempting to open a file with an inappropriate extension" appears.OK button.Option to open a new file. |